

ARIANNA HUFFINGTON

Author of On Becoming Fearless and Editor of The Huffington Post

Arianna Huffington is the co-founder and editor-in-chief of The Huffington Post, a nationally syndicated columnist, and author of eleven books. She is also co-host of Left, Right & Center, public radio's popular political roundtable program.

In May 2005, she launched The Huffington Post, a news and blog site that has quickly become one of the most widely-read, linked to, and frequently-cited media brands on the Internet.

In 2006, she was named to the Time 100, Time Magazine's list of the world's 100 most influential people.

Originally from Greece, she moved to England when she was 16 and graduated from Cambridge University with an M.A. in economics. At 21, she became president of the famed debating society, the Cambridge Union.

On Becoming Fearless...in Love, Work and Life is Huffington's most recent and most personal book to date, offering a road map for achieving fearlessness in every aspect of life, a straight-to the point manifesto on how to be bold, how to say what needs to be said and do what needs to be done in order to find the freedom to love, lead and succeed.

Huffington has made guest appearances on numerous television shows, including Charlie Rose, Oprah, Nightline, Real Time with Bill Maher, Inside Politics, Larry King Live, Hardball, Good Morning America, the Today show, Countdown with Keith Olbermann, and The O'Reilly Factor.

She serves on several boards that promote community solutions to social problems, including A Place Called Home, which works with at-risk children in South Central Los Angeles. She also serves on the Board of Trustees for the Archer School for Girls.

Huffington lives in Los Angeles with her two teenage daughters.
